

JAPAN BRINGS "PEACE" TO CHINA

(Upper) These thirteen unlucky men are not buried. These are the remains of their mortal bodies when the Japanese executioner's ax finished with them in Nanking. (Center) Grisly humor. Japanese make sport with Chinese skeletons in China's former capital. (Lower) Ghoulish sentinel duty by a Japanese over the burned bodies of Chinese at Nanking.